

JUICE- Join Us In Creating Energy

Approach note- 8th November'17

Our Approach

We would start with a further diagnostic conversation with different participants in your organization . We may also run an online profile to gauge the feedback for individuals to then design experiences delivered using theatre methodologies in the workshop along the lines indicated in this proposal.

The experience for the leaders would be delivered by an experienced MaynardLeigh facilitator. We pride in creating unique experiences which would help the team connect back to their behaviour's at work and otherwise.

We would recommend a discovery meeting with you after the workshop has been completed in order to get feedback on the themes and issues that were uncovered.

Methodology

We use Interactive theatrical exercises along with Psychological and L & D tools

Tentative Learning Outcomes: Post the workshop, participants will:

Think:

- To be able to be more productive in changing times; we need to collaborate with each other
- Blaming damages productivity
- Change is everywhere, I need to learn to constructively engage with change aka. "whatever happens around me, let me keep my patterns positive."

Feel:

- Motivated to gear up for changing times
- Aligned across teams & functions
- A bedrock sense of trust, i.e there is no spy
- Responsible for not just myself but also the success of my team

Be more able to:

- Display a "chooser's" attitude to transition
- Practice the key principles of collaboration (accept & build; make the other shine; take creative risks)
- Assume positive intent
